THE ONTARIO CONFERENCE

By Ferdinand M. Isserman

A conference of Ontario Jewish leaders has been called for next Sunday, May 2, at the Primrose Club, to meet with Mr. David A. Brown, of Detroit, prominent Jewish communal leader and director of the fifteen-million-dollar campaign of the Joint Distribution Committee. The purpose of the conference will be to hear Mr. Brown's report of conditions among the Jews of eastern Europe, and to determine what Ontario's share will be towards their relief. No funds are to be solicited at the conference, nor will campaigns necessarily be held immediately thereafter. The conference will determine Ontario's quota, will apportion that quota among the Jewish communities in the province, and will select a chairman for each community. These local chairmen and their committees can then determine when and how the necessary funds can best be raised.

The Ontario conference is meeting at an opportune time, when the opposition which previously existed against the plans of the Joint Distribution Committee has completely disappeared. The complete economic collapse of certain sections of European Jewry has rendered immediate relief imperative, and has united the Jewish communities throughout the American continent. The plan for Crimean land colonization, which was so vehemently opposed in Zionist circles has practically been abandoned. Zionist groups have recognized the need of immediate aid to prevent the complete breakdown of large sections of European Jewry. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, when he concluded the United Palestine drive in the City of New York, urged his followers and comrades in the Zionist movement to aid the campaign of the Joint Distribution Committee in New York City. Dr. Wise backed up his appeal by a contribution of $1,000 to the Joint Distribution Committee cause. Zionists and non-Zionists, Russians and Germans, liberal and orthodox, all are united in the determination that these starving Jews of Europe shall not be allowed to disintegrate and perish.

The reports which came from Poland and Bessarabia are horrible and heart-rending. In Warsaw mass meetings are held at which rabbis extract pledges from their audiences not to commit suicide. Emaciated children, disease-ridden old folks, men in the prime of life struggle for places in the soup lines. Men and women who previously had means, who were leaders in their communities, who had comforts and luxuries, now wander about the city streets hungrily begging for bread. Only American and Canadian Jewries can help them. They call out to us, and we must answer their pleas, else their sufferings are on our consciences, and their misery like a ghastly apparition will rise to haunt us all our lives.

Several hundred invitations to the conference have been sent out. Everyone who can physically do so must accept the invitation. No excuses barring illness or absence from the city are legitimate. Those who fail to answer the roll-call next Sunday morning at the Primrose Club indicate and voice their indifference to the unutterable woes of millions of Jews. Those who have the Jewish spirit, those

RABBI ABRAMOVITZ HONOURED

By Herbert J. Samuel

The Jewish community of Montreal has been honoured in the election of the Rev. Dr. Abramovitz as president of the United Synagogue of America. It is gratifying to know that an important body like the United Synagogue has elevated a Canadian rabbi to its leadership, and we congratulate Dr. Abramovitz upon this signal recognition of his ability. He assumes a position of weighty responsibility but of unlimited opportunity in American Jewry, and the United Synagogue acquires a wise, experienced and practical administrator, who will make an effective director. The Shaar Hashomayim Congregation is also to be congratulated upon the distinction its rabbi has conferred on it. A pleasing aspect of the appointment is that Dr. Abramovitz is tolerant in his attitude to others, while sincere in his own standpoint, and we can feel sure that under his guidance a spirit of goodwill towards, and of co-operation with, the other Jewish religious organizations of America will prevail. We cannot imagine that Dr. Abramovitz will lend himself to anything like the eclectic acrimony that is being engendered in England between the leaders of the Jewish religious organizations there. We wish him a successful and fruitful term of office which will bring him further laurels and will add to the usefulness of the United Synagogue of America.

THE CASE OF MR. JOSEPH MYERS, AN UNWARRANTED AND MALICIOUS PERSECUTION

What has all along been transparently the persecution of an honest and innocent man has culminated in the honourable acquittal of Mr. Joseph Myers by Mr. Justice Curran in the Court of King's Bench at Winnipeg, on April 14. "It is my duty to find you not guilty," said his lordship, "and furthermore to point out that there has been no evidence adduced before me, no evidence at all, that would reflect upon your character as an honest man; and I feel in justice to you, that what you have undergone in the past entitles you to some more consideration than would be meted out to a person under ordinary circumstances, and I therefore think it my duty to express to you that in acquitting you I do so without any stain upon your character as the result of this case."

This vindication of Mr. Myers comes as no surprise. From the very start of the proceedings over a year ago, he has been the recipient of countless unsolicited expressions of sympathy and confidence from people in all walks and positions of public life. The shareholders of the companies referred to in the charges have on five occasions at separate intervals during the course of the proceedings voted full confidence in him. But the levelling of the charges and the methods followed by those who made them cannot be passed over without some comment.

Joseph Myers has been interested in the development of Northern Manitoba for a number of years past. He is a Jew, born in New Zealand. He identified himself with the community in Winnipeg, and contributed generously, but without ostentation, to all charitable

Rufus D. Isaacs, a poor boy who ran away to sea, grew up to be knighted in 1910. He was made Baron in 1914, Viscount in 1916, Earl in 1917. That was a rapid ascent of the scale of titles. Shortly after, an American newspaper man in London, seeking to confute Lord Bryce in argument, chaffingly quoted his "superior nobleman." "How is he my superior?" Lord Bryce demanded. "Earl is a step beyond Viscount," the visitor explained. "Is Reading an Earl?" said Bryce. "God bless my soul!"

New exclamations of wonderment are greeting Reading's further advance to the rank of Marquis—or "Marquess," as sticklers for precedent spell it. Along the route of official service that led to his work in India he had been made Lord Chief Justice, a K.C.B., a High Commissioner and Special Envoy to the United States. As he is but sixty-six and blessed with the health that befits a man of spare and wiry frame, he may well live to be a Duke.

Reading is a mile-post. When he was born, Lionel Rothschild was but newly seated in Parliament after an eleven years' struggle for such a modification of the oath as would admit a Jew to Parliament. He was twenty-five when Nathan Rothschild entered the House of Lords. Think what an English Earl was to a Jew of the middle ages in his Ghetto, and we see in Reading's career more than the rise of a man; it is the emergence of a nation out of mediaevalism.

Business is good with the various Jewish appeals for funds now being made in the States. It would almost appear that the trick isn't how to get the money but how to keep from taking it—as the cornucopia is turned upside down. With the communities falling into the line of campaigns the same country which poured a golden stream of 60 millions of dollars into Europe for Jewish relief is reacting nobly to the present high-pressure drives.

In Columbus, Ohio, where the Jewish Chest Appeal for $250,000 includes the United Jewish Campaign, the United Palestine Appeal, the local Talmud Torah and the Bnai Brith Orphanage, advance pledges were received of $100,000. In Williamsport, Pa., $18,000 contributed to the United Jewish Campaign is the largest sum ever given by that community and represents almost three times the quota set for the city. In Newark, N.J., fully five weeks before the formal opening of the joint drive of the two United appeals and of the Federation, one-fourth of the $600,000 was subscribed.

There must be much money over there when individual subscribers in the Newark campaign can give as much as $30,000 each. The people are in the habit of giving and giving plenty. The Buffalo, N.Y., Federation has just been conducting a solicitation for funds by which over $80,000 was subscribed in answer to nothing more than letters! Then the business of asking money for sweet charity's sake has become as efficient, as well-oiled, as systematic, as full of salesmen and tricks of trade as any other business in the world. Work for the big relief campaigns is started weeks, sometimes months before the money is asked for. The wheels begin to turn and you can blue-print the system from the acceptance by the local chairman to the gathering in of the last kopek.

The bigger the amounts from the first givers, the luckier the campaign—because men of varying degrees of wealth all down the economic scale measure their contributions accordingly. This method of computation of what one should give may not be the most highly ethical one, but, human nature being what it is, it forms the usual guide. Two Jews will always agree on what a third should give to charity or relief, and set it down on paper very gladly. Public opinion enters to have a bearing on each donation for it is always pretty generally known what a man has and how much he should show gratitude with. Still, calculated, figured-out contribution does not take away from the spontaneity associated with giving to charity because back of the big appeals is the compulsion of humanity, of conscience, duty and responsibility, of decency. Without such compulsion ears would be deaf to the cries of the unfortunate and there could be no golden stream to turn into bread as it flows.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

Marvelous beyond conception inaptly describes the glories of Canada's Rockies. To be fully appreciated they must be seen. To start out on a trip by one's self into this unfamiliar but far-famed paradise-on-earth, to many appears quite a task. Realizing this, Dean Sinclair Laird, of Macdonald College, an experienced Rocky Mountains traveller, for the third year in succession, has undertaken to conduct a party through this glorious wonderland.

A special train of dining, standard sleeping, and observation compartment cars has been chartered, to leave Toronto [illegible] 19 via the Canadian Pacific Railways. Stops will be made at Port Arthur and Fort William, which together form Canada's greatest grain port, Winnipeg Beach, the popular summer resort for Winnipegers; Winnipeg, Canada's third largest city; Indian Head, the chief tree-distributing centre of the Federal Forestry Branch; Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan; Calgary, Alberta's largest city; Banff, the world-famous mountain resort; by automobile for 104 miles over the Banff-Windermere highway, the most spectacular drive in Canada, through Kootenay Lake to Nelson, the commercial centre of Southern British Columbia; then through the Doukhobor country to Penticton; along lovely Okanagan Lake, and to Vancouver, thence by steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be by the main line of the Canadian Pacific, through the great canyons of the Fraser and Thompson Rivers, and through the Selkirks and Rockies, affording scenery such as can be found nowhere else on earth; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies, the most perfect gem of scenery in the world; another day at Banff, Edmonton, the Capital of Alberta; Saskatoon, the city of optimism; Devil's Gap Camp, on the Lake of the Woods, near Kenora; thence to Fort William, where one of the fine Canadian Pacific Steamers will be used across Lakes Superior and Huron to Port McNicoll, then rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate.

Everything is included in the price of $330, from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels, and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels and on steamers and sight-seeing tours at points visited.

The trip is open to all, and applications for accommodation are being received.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named, and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College Post Office, Que.

causes. A few years ago he obtained an option on some gold mining properties known as the Bingo mines, and formed a company in Canada for their development. His personal solicitors, Messrs. Pitblado, Hoskin & Company, of Winnipeg, became solicitors for the company, and Mr. Myers occupied for some time a room in their office. All his personal and business papers were in the custody of these solicitors. Members of the firm were on the managing board of the company. Subsequently, Mr. Myers organized a company in England to acquire the property, and a start was made in the actual development of the mines. All the reports by engineers and investigators had agreed in estimating Bingo as a valuable property with excellent prospects. Towards the latter part of 1924, however, an unfavourable report was issued, but at the annual meeting of the English shareholders in January, 1925, confidence was voted in Mr. Myers, and he was authorized to proceed in the development on lines advocated by him. The day following that meeting, he was arrested in London on a charge of issuing false statements with intent to defraud, the allegation being that he had "salted" the mine. He was held without bail, although security to any amount was immediately forthcoming, cables passing between the private prosecutors in England and Winnipeg indicating that it was desired to hold Mr. Myers without bail for the purpose of preventing him having access to his private papers in his solicitors' custody, and which were vitally necessary for his defence. The arrest was effected in consequence of a warrant issued in Winnipeg at the solicitation of these solicitors, who had acted for him for fifteen years. To create the atmosphere desired by the private prosecutors, Mr. Myers was arrested under the Fugitive Offenders Act, although, to the knowledge of the prosecutors, he had gone to England on the company's business at the company's request and expense, and had already engaged his return passage to Canada on the very boat on which Mr. H. R. Drummond-Hay, a member of that firm of solicitors, who was in England on the same business as Mr. Myers, proposed to sail. Mr. Drummond-Hay, who was also secretary-treasurer of the company, was, while in London, in close touch with Mr. Myers. They were to have lunched together on the day of the arrest, which was effected as Mr. Myers entered the hotel to meet Mr. Drummond-Hay, who was waiting there. After a week or more in gaol, Mr. Myers obtained his release and immediately sailed for Canada to face the charges against him.

The preliminary hearing of the charge lasted several months and at the end Sir Hugh John Macdonald, police court magistrate, acquitted Mr. Myers on the ground of lack of evidence. The prosecution then announced inability to proceed on the remaining three counts and entered a stay of proceedings, which usually terminates a case. The Attorney-General of Manitoba, in response to pressure brought to bear upon him by the parties interested in the prosecution, then took the hitherto unheard-of course of personally preferring an indictment against Mr. Myers. When the case was called at the November Assizes, the Crown was unable to proceed, on the ground that the evidence taken down in the police court had not then been transcribed. The inference of this is that it is possible in the present state of the law in Manitoba for a man to be tried again on the same charge after acquittal. When the case came up this spring, Mr. Justice Curran expressed himself very strongly on this point, but it remains unsettled, as Mr. Myers' counsel, on his insistence, refused to avail themselves of the right to question the legality of the indictment, desiring a verdict only on the merits of the case and the evidence. Mr. Myers is now a free man without a stain on his character. But he has had to struggle for over a year to maintain his innocence, at a terrific cost and in the face of a vicious and persistent propaganda seeking to secure his ruin.

During these proceedings Mr. Myers met the Canadian shareholders three times. In April, 1925, he was the only director of the Canadian company to be re-elected. On each of these occasions he was accorded full confidence by overwhelming majorities. In January of this year he was confirmed by an enormous vote of the English shareholders. He stood last October as Conservative candidate for Parliament in the constituency of which the Pas mining district is part, and was defeated by only a small majority in spite of the fact that he is a Jew, which was not forgotten by his opponents nor denied by him, and then only when a number of the mining polls, where his strength lay, were deprived of their votes through the "loss" of the ballot boxes. It may be added that the Jewish voters in the constituency are negligible in number.

The Myers case is something more than the effort of an individual to free himself from the charge of guilt. It opens up more than one question. Mr. Myers has been handicapped by the introduction of new features in public life. His private papers were held by his own solicitors, who instigated the prosecution, for the use of the private prosecutors—a novel step in the relations of solicitor and client, which have always been understood to be most confidential. He was the victim of an almost inconceivably brutal attack on his personal character by a printed pamphlet issued and circulated by two English directors of the company, Sir William Maxwell and Capt. Sherburn, whose action in so doing was as un-British as any we have ever heard of. They were afterwards ousted from their positions by the English shareholders. It is also a significant fact that during the prosecution, which was charging Mr. Myers with an attempt fraudulently to foist a worthless property on the public, a letter was sent to the directors of the English company by a member of the firm of Pitblado, Hoskin & Company, advising the optioning of claims adjacent to the Bingo property, as such could be bought very cheap by reason of the reports which members of that firm had broadcasted. At the same time the two English directors before referred to, unknown to Mr. Myers, also a director, asked a would-be purchaser the insignificant sum of seven hundred thousand pounds sterling for the Bingo mine.

It may well be asked why has Mr. Myers been victimized? Is it because of his religion, or because of the greed of those who pretended to be his friends? Why was the Attorney-General of Manitoba prevailed upon to take the extraordinary step he did? Is it because Mr. Myers is a Jew? Was it not sufficiently apparent that the charge had failed and that Mr. Myers had received the support of every tribunal of fair-minded men to which his case in varying aspects had been submitted? That a prosecution conducted in such a manner has been possible gives one reason to pause and inquire what has become of the liberty of the individual. Mr. Myers has been subjected to a degree of indignity, anguish and suffering that nothing can repair. If, however, the result of his persecution—for that it has undoubtedly been—will be to expose a serious state of affairs, it will not have been in vain. But the name of Joseph Myers must be added to the long list of those who have suffered for their Judaism, though we did not expect to find such a thing possible in a British land.

LITHUANIAN JEWS SUFFER FROM FLOODS

Hundreds of Jewish families in Kovno and neighbouring towns have been rendered homeless because of the overflow of the rivers Niemen and Vilya. The whole of the Jewish quarter is practically submerged and the damage to property amounts to millions of dollars. Appeals for financial aid have been sent to the ICA and the J.D.C.

A priest, the leader of the Christian National Party and editor of a paper was sentenced by a Kovno court to five days' imprisonment for libeling the Jewish deputies of the Lithuanian Seim in accusing them of sending secret appeals to American Jews to prevent the recognition of Lithuania by the United States. In spite of the fact that the resolution for the recognition of Lithuania was introduced by Congressman Sabath, a Jew, the priest claimed that the Jews in America, acting upon instruction from the Jewish Club of the Lithuanian Seim, stand in the way of America's recognition.

Dr. Wise's Son Rejects Formal Jewish Creed; Will Not Become Rabbi

James Waterman Wise, the son of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, after studying two years to become a rabbi and carry on his father's ministry, has repudiated formal Jewish theology. During the last winter he has been at White Plains as the leader of a Jewish community forum trying to decide what his future course will be.

These are two of his beliefs: "Judaism, as a religion, has ceased to play a vital part in Jewish life," and that he has been led to the conviction that Judaism, the religion, cannot survive."

The Fundamentalist-Modernist controversy in the Christian Protestant Church has had its echoes among the Jews. Since each synagogue is self-governing, and there is no way to discipline unorthodox rabbis, there have been fewer threats of heresy trials. But the divergence between Jewish liberals and conservatives has been widening, and Dr. Wise has become recognized as the spokesman of the most liberal wing. Now his twenty-three-year-old son has declined to have anything to do with the formal Jewish church at all.

"Father was disappointed that I felt I couldn't follow him in his work," James Wise said, "but all my life he has taught me to seek the truth. He has taught me it is more important to do what you believe is right than it is to do anything else. And I didn't believe it would be right for me, feeling as I do, to take my vows as a rabbi."

James Wise looks like his father. He is tall and heavily built, with the same heavy lock of black hair across his forehead, the same heavy eyebrows and the same long face. His manner is very different from his father's. Dr. Wise is the orator of long experience. Words come cascading out of the son, hit or miss, like water over a broken dam.

During the last winter he has written a book, "The Future of Israel," to be published soon. In it he gives his belief that Jewish theology has ceased to matter to the coming generation of Jews.

"The two fundamental concepts of the older Judaism," he writes, "the concept of Israel as priest-people and witness to the unity of God, and the concept of Israel as the messenger of redemption to mankind, have broken down. They have not been denied in theory. They are still, though with somewhat decreasing vehemence, enunciated by the religious leaders in modern Jewry. But they have ceased to be a living force. The younger Jewish generation considers them so little, in fact, that it does not even take the trouble to deny them. And no opposition or open heresy could be as dangerous as that."

In another place he writes:

"Despite reiterated pulpit pronouncements the emancipated modern Jew is actually quite unperturbed over the possibility that the world at large may never accept the purely monotheistic conception of divinity which has been Judaism's.

"He is not so sure of his own belief as to feel that he can in conscience urge others to accept it. Not that the Jew is any nearer than he ever was to the acceptance of the theology of Christianity. He was never further away. The truth of the matter is that the whole theological problem does not interest him very deeply."

Wise writes that both Christianity and Judaism depend for their validity upon faith, and "faith has become decreasingly a part of modern life." He tells of the "pronounced heresy in the lives of millions, and these millions, be it noted, the most thoughtful and intelligent in all lands."

Since he believes that Judaism, as a religion, has no importance for the present generation, Wise refused to become a rabbi. Jews have distinctive contributions to make to the world, he said, but they no longer want to express themselves through their traditional theology. So Wise set himself to find out how Jewish life in America could be held together in a matrix of common culture and beliefs.

"Religion, instead of beginning with the assumption of God and working down to man, will begin with man and human nature, and end wherever man's highest nature leads. It will deal in human terms with human beings. It will busy itself with the earthly, not the heavenly, springs of human conduct.

"It will preach the spirit and the soul of man, not apart from the body, nor as something nebulous and unsubstantial as something nebulous and unsubstantial, but as the indwelling and motivating energy of life.

"Such religion will probably be without creed or dogma. But it will not be without life. For its very essence will consist of the essence of life. Its main purpose and 'excuse' will be to help man to answer worthily the supreme question of his days: How shall life be lived? With what aims? By what standards, according to what plan? The religion of the future will be in truth the science of life."

Wise said: "There is more real religion in what my sister, Justine, has done helping the strikers over in the mills of Passaic than in any rabbi's theology."

Next year Wise is going to lecture before Jewish communities to find out how he can put his ideals of a new Jewish movement into practice.

"I want to find out more about the problems which are preoccupying Jews to-day," he said. "Perhaps some time I might help start a new movement to give expression to Jewish culture outside the synagogue. But I don't want to talk about it now. I don't feel I am old enough, or know enough, to be ready to announce my plans."

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement in 160-acre blocks at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, mineral, water power, fish, game and scenery, are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

ROYAL ALEXANDRA

BERTHA KALICH IN "MAGDA"

Bertha Kalich will appear with her distinguished New York Company at the Royal Alexandra for one week starting May 3, in "Magda," a play which found a favourite place in the repertoire of Sarah Bernhardt, Eleonora Duse, Mme. Rejane, Olga Nethersole and the great artists of every European country. Supporting her are many well known Broadway favorites such as, to mention only a few, Warburton Gamble, Charles Waldron, Josephine Royle, Katherine Collier and Kenneth Hunter. It seems hardly necessary to add that it will be a matter of regret to any lover of real drama to miss this history-making performance which will be discussed and written about long after most of us now alive have passed into another life. It is the opportunity of a lifetime to see a really great play interpreted by a real genius such as Bertha Kalich has proven herself to be in "Monna Vanna," "Marta of the Lowlands," "The Kreutzer Sonata" and "A Light from St. Agnes," as well as many other lesser-known plays.

Samuel C. Heiber,
Leader of the "Merry Syncopaters," who will be featured in the La Marr Revue, Sunday, May 2, at the Talmud Torah.

LOEW'S

There have been screen comedies that distorted college life, dramas that stopped at the outer fringe of the campus, and farces that were the baldest of travesties on university existence, but never until Metro made "Brown of Harvard" has there been a motion picture that reproduced with fidelity that wonder story of the greatest years in a man's life—college days.

"Brown of Harvard," at Loew's, is the greatest football picture ever filmed, and it is recognized as the first film to catch the true spirit of Alma Mater, and to reproduce authentically the very atmosphere of college life. The great scene is, of course, when Tom Brown carries the ball over for a touch and wins the game for Harvard.

William Haines as the hero, Mary Brian as "Mary" and Jack Pickford as the faithful "Jim," Mary Alden, David Torrence and Francis X. Bushman, Jr., make "Brown of Harvard" real and sympathetic.

FEDERATION NEWS

The board of trustees of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies voted to give $5,000 to Mt. Sinai Hospital for the calendar year of 1926. Of this amount, $2,000 represents the unpaid balance of 1925, and $3,000 is the new allotment for 1926. Since January 1, Mt. Sinai Hospital received $1,750 from the Federation.

Relief calls have been unusually heavy this winter. Since January 1, over $15,000 has been expended for family welfare work as compared with less than $11,000 spent for the corresponding four months of 1925. An average of ninety-two families has been helped every week since January 1, whereas a year ago the average per week was only sixty-one families. Family welfare expenditures amount to over 50 per cent. of the total cash Federation receipts, a much higher percentage than is expended for that purpose by Jewish Federations in other cities.

Joseph A. Woolf, executive director of the Federation, addressed the Sons of Jacob Society last week on "Jewish Communal Problems."

At the Toronto Social Welfare Conference which held its concluding session, April 22, Mr. Woolf delivered two papers, one on "The Homeless Man" and the other on "Social Work with Prisoners' Families." The outcome of the discussion on prisoners' families was the appointment of a committee to co-ordinate work of all organizations dealing with prisoners' families. This committee will consist of M. C. MacLean, executive secretary, Federation for Community Service; Major Moat, of the Salvation Army, and Mr. Woolf.

The Federation has acknowledged a special donation of $1,000 by Frank D. Benjamin and a bequest of $1,000 by the late Louis Shapiro.

The Children's Home extension, an annex of the Jewish Children's Home, 336 Annette Street, has just been completed at a cost of $13,000.

BEQUESTS TO FEDERATION

The Federation of Jewish Philanthropies announces a bequest of $1,000 from the late Louis Shapiro, formerly of Toronto. The family is now living in Miami, Fla.

A cheque for $1,000 for the Federation, as a memento of his visit to Toronto, was made last week by Frank D. Benjamin, of London, England, formerly of Toronto.

YOUNG JUDAEA

At the Young Judaea rally held last Satuday evening at the Zionist Building, Rabbi Jesse Schwartz made an appeal on behalf of the Keren Hayesod. Miss Doris Tennenbaum of the Sara Circle, gave two recitations.

The Young Judaean Debating League will enter the final round commencing Sunday, April 25. Schedule: Philo vs. Jordan, Sunday, April 25; Hatikva vs. Judith, Wednesday, April 28; Rebecca vs. Ruth, Sunday, May 2; Nordia vs. Sampter, Sunday, May 2; Palestine Twigs vs Queen Esther, May 5; Allenby vs. Leah, May 5; Buds of Judah vs. Sarah, May 5. The debates occurring Wednesday, are held in the Kindergarten, Ryerson School; chairman, M. Starkman.

The Indoor Baseball League will hold its opening game Tuesday, May 25, at Bellwoods Park. Mayor Stubbings of the Boys' City Council will pitch the first ball commencing the first game of the season. Members of the Boys Council will also be there. Committee in charge under the chairmanship of R. Sufrin, A. G. Donn, Max Starkman, P. Brownstein, L. Kates and J. Winick

QUESTIONS WHICH ANSWER QUESTIONS

IF THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ARE RESTORED TO HEALTH BY CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS, AS THEY ARE IN THE PALMER SCHOOL OF CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC, DAVENPORT, IOWA, WHAT IS THERE WRONG ABOUT CHIROPRACTIC?

IF THE DEATH RATE IS RAPIDLY INCREASING ALONG ALL LINES AS SHOWN BY STATISTICS, IS IT THE FAULT OF CHIROPRACTIC?

SHOULD CHIROPRACTORS BE ARRESTED AND FINED FOR "PRACTICING MEDICINE" WHEN THEY NEVER PRESCRIBE OR USE DRUGS OF ANY DESCRIPTION?

IF CHIROPRACTIC IS A BRANCH OF ANY OTHER SYSTEM OF HEALING, WHY IS IT NOT FOUND IN THEIR TEXTBOOKS?

BECAUSE YOU DO NOT BELIEVE IN CHIROPRACTIC, IS THAT PROOF THAT IT IS NOT SCIENTIFIC AND CORRECT?

MAKE A TRIAL OF CHIROPRACTIC; YOU NO DOUBT HAVE TRIED OTHER THINGS; YOU CAN THEN INTELLIGENTLY COMPARE RESULTS. WITH EVERY EFFECT THERE MUST BE A CAUSE, AND CHIROPRACTIC HAS SOLVED THIS PROBLEM OF THE CAUSE OF DISEASE, AND ADJUSTS NOT ONLY THE CAUSE BUT THE EFFECTS AS WELL.

EXAMINATION OF THE SPINE WILL SHOW THE CAUSE OF YOUR TROUBLE.

who take pride in the Jewish record and traditions of philanthropy, those who have character and sympathies, those who with their comforts remember their own hardships and struggles, those who cannot idly stand by while kin and co-religionist perish in agony, those with a conscience and reverence for God, those who want their lives to be a Kiddush Hashem, those who will answer the roll-call, hear David Brown, and decide whole-heartedly to shoulder the responsibilities which a mysterious destiny has brought to our doors. Remember next Sunday morning. Remember that while your children thrive others are starving. Remember that if you are tired of giving, they are tired of living.

Make the Ontario Conference a success and add another noble page to the heroic history of the Jews in Canada!
